Vaccinations and immunisations

Use this table to keep a record of vaccinations and immunisations you have had.

You may be at increased risk of infection during and following your cancer treatment.

You are advised to consult with your cancer care team before having any vaccinations, especially if you are in the middle of chemotherapy or radiotherapy.

This information is also helpful for you to be reminded of when vaccinations are due (e.g. annual influenza vaccine).

- Vaccination means an injection of a substance that will stimulate the body's antibodies to provide immunity against a disease.
- Immunisation means receiving a vaccination and becoming immune to a disease.
